

Who is eligible for parental leave in Ireland?

Parental leave is granted to parents, usually after maternity and paternity leave, allowing mothers and fathers to take care of their young children without losing their jobs. Such a policy exists in all EU Member States and in Ireland it is called Saoire do thuismitheoirí. The policy design and eligibility rules vary across the EU and not all women and men in the EU are eligible for parental leave.

Parental leave in Ireland is:

Unpaid

8.4 months

Leave is an individual right and cannot be transferred between parents

24 % of women and 33 % of men in employment are not eligible for parental leave

This factsheet is based on an eligibility study of how many women and men (aged 20-49) would be eligible for parental leave if they had a child in 2017 and the reasons behind their non-eligibility <sup>(1)</sup>.

Who is eligible for parental leave in Ireland?

✓ Employees
(with conditions)

× Self-employed

✓ Same-sex parents

✓ Non-citizens <sup>(2)</sup>
(except asylum seekers)

In the EU-28 <sup>(3)</sup>:

- 15 countries restrict access to employees with short working duration before birth (including Ireland)
- The self-employed are not eligible in 10 countries (including Ireland)
- 11 countries do not allow access for same-sex parents (not Ireland)
- 19 limit access to refugees or asylum seekers (including no access for asylum seekers in Ireland)

In Ireland, self-employment and duration conditions for employees restrict the access to parental leave.

<sup>(1)</sup> Restrictions for same-sex couples, refugees and asylum seekers where they apply are not included in the simulations, so underestimates non-eligibility.

<sup>(2)</sup> The non-citizens category is multidimensional and cover other EU-28 citizens, 3rd country nationals, refugees and asylum seekers.

Who is not eligible for parental leave in Ireland?

In Ireland, 18 % of mothers and 29 % of fathers with a co-resident child aged less than 3 years are not eligible for leave, an 11 percentage point gender gap in access to leave. The gender gap for parents with young children is slightly larger than the national average (9 percentage points).
